Rules for Use of Special Collections and Archives

These materials, housed in a closed-stack environment, consist of rare and valuable items collected and preserved for the use of faculty, staff, students, and other researchers.

Hours: Monday through Friday, as posted; Closed Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays

1. Each researcher is required to complete and sign the registration form, and show acceptable identification.

2. Trinity University reserves the right to inspect briefcases, parcels, packages, books, and all personal belongings taken from the Library. If archival materials are requested, users may be asked to check in coats, briefcases, backpacks, etc. while materials are in use.

3. Materials are to be used according to the following guidelines:

a. The Guest Register must be signed each day.
   b. Only lead pencils may be used in the room.
   c. Paper for note-taking is provided by Special Collections and Archives.
   d. Tracing is not permitted.
   e. Readers may not write upon, mark, lean upon or mishandle material provided for their use.
   f. Material may only be used in the reading room, unless arrangement is made by appropriate library staff.
   g. It is extremely important to preserve the existing order and arrangement of unbound material within the folders and inside each box. Inform library staff of any irregularities in arrangement so that they may address the situation.
   h. When using manuscripts and/or archival material, remove only one folder at a time from the box, using the supplied “Out Card” as place holder. Return folders to the box in the same order and direction as you received them.
   i. Manuscripts and archival material left temporarily on the table should be replaced in their containers, and containers should be closed. Notify library staff if you need to leave the area but plan to return.
   j. All material should be returned to the library staff when you have finished. Researchers are responsible for all material delivered to them until it has been checked in.
   k. Food and/or beverages are not permitted in the area.
   l. Requests for photocopies should be presented to appropriate library staff.
   m. Access to the Special Collections and Archives does not imply permission to publish; the researcher is responsible for securing copyright releases or permission to publish as necessary.

We hope that the time you spend in the library will be both productive and pleasant. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask for assistance.

I agree to publish under copyright no portion of an unpublished manuscript or archival materials without the written permission of the Trinity University, Elizabeth Huth Coates Library. I also understand that it is my responsibility to obtain the permission of the copyright holder prior to publication when necessary. I further agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Trinity University, Elizabeth Huth Coates Library, its office, employees, and agents from and against all claims and actions arising out of my use of materials housed in the Library's Archives and Special Collections.
